

Camera features and all camera-derived channels are masked when the camera is absent.

